Mr. Frank E. Resnik
Chairman
Philip Morris U.S.A.
120 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10017

Dear Frank:

Thank you for travelling to La Jolla and spending the day with us at the University of California, San Diego. Dick Atkinson, George Palade, and I were pleased to have the opportunity to familiarize you with the University -- particularly with the accomplishments of the Health Sciences and the extraordinary plans for further development in medical research and patient care.

The Division of Cellular and Molecular Medicine will be integral to the continuing progress of UCSD and its Health Sciences. The research activities of the Division will spearhead the field of cellular and molecular medicine, setting a pace and model for other institutions to follow, nationally and internationally. This hallmark of excellence will influence the emergence of the University of California, San Diego -- not only as a strong research center but also as an institution that is capable of swiftly meeting the demands of a changing world of medicine.

As Philip Morris develops its own plans to provide leadership in the field of cellular and molecular medicine, I hope you, Jim Charles, and others will let me know how UCSD could be helpful. We would welcome a partnership with Philip Morris in our new Division of Cellular and Molecular Medicine, and shall look forward to hearing how we might proceed toward that possibility.

The notebook of materials is being sent with this letter. You will notice an addition, a reprint of a talk given recently by Bruce Darling, which presents a brief summary of some of the topics George and I discussed with you last week.

Again, I extend my appreciation to you and the others for spending the day with us at the University. I hope it represented the first of many visits by Philip Morris to UCSD.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Gerard N. Burrow". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Gerard" being more prominent and the last name "Burrow" following in a similar style.
